

The New York Times

Sunday, September 15, 2002

WINE UNDER $20

A Rustic Red For the Fall

At $9, the amiable 1998 Naverán cabernet sauvignon from Penedès, southwest of Barcelona, is a terrific buy for everyday drinking. It is soft, earthy, meaty and rustic. Expect loads of black currant and the scent and flavor of crushed berries. On chilly nights, it can be comforting. This Spanish red is exceptionally popular at Martin Brothers, 2781 Broadway (107th Street), Manhattan.

HOWARD G. GOLDBERG

