

The New York Times

Sunday, August 24, 2003

WINE UNDER $20

A Bit of Mystery, A Lot of Hints

If you pay Martin Brothers, 2781 Broadway (107th Street), $7 for the 2002 Cortijo III, a Rioja, and drink it today, tomorrow you'll buy more.

This exuberant, addictive dark wine from Iberia's signature tempranillo grape is plump and juicy. It's like a blend of cherries and unidentifiable berries, with hints of herbs and tobacco. (Distributed by MHW, Manhasset, N.Y., for José Moura Selections.)

HOWARD G. GOLDBERG